DETAILED ACTION

- I. Claims 1-20, drawn to remote data accessing server from a local agent classified in class 709, subclass 217.
- II. Claims 21-24, drawn to network resource accessing controlling via different protocols and software languages through local computer, classified in class 709, subclass 229. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because each invention consists a unique individuality which distinct from each other: Invention I focusing on the remote data accessing server from a local agent. Invention II consists capability of control the network resources accessing by utilize proper protocol stacks and various software language commends.

Because these invention are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purpose as indicated is proper

A telephone call was made to William Hughes on 4/4/05 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
